Description:

Faucet well rain cloud sea . . . from each of these comes water. But where does water go? To find out, honey, turn the page, dive in with tongue or toes, with eyes and ears and nose—and wonder at the flow of this great world's life story.

This is indeed a beautiful book, but I bought it together with Water is Water by Miranda Paul, and his one is going back to Amazon. Neither my pre-K or K kids were particularly enthralled by the book. It did explain the water cycle in a broad way, with a lovely emphasis on protecting and preserving the resource, but there wasn't enough detail for my kindergartener and the illustrations didn't really hold the attention of my three year-olds. This is one I'd take it if the library rather than buying.
